

---

Prof. Buettner/Prof. Rincke/Prof. Wrede

---

The Seminar Public Economics 2 (Master), Winter Term 2016/17

covers topics on

Taxation, Redistribution, and Housing Markets

Course Description:

Participants will work on a broad range of issues related to Taxation, Redistribution, and Housing Markets. Three sets of topics will be discussed. A first set addresses questions related to taxation and digital economy, like sales taxation and E-commerce, taxation in two-sided markets, the effects of transfer pricing rules on the activities of multinational firms, and the taxation of intellectual property (Prof. Buettner). A second set of issues relates to inequality and redistribution, like the actual distribution of income and wealth, preferences of redistribution, and limits to redistributive policies (Prof. Rincke). A third set of topics covers housing markets. The focus here is on effects of regulation on house prices, housing quality, and housing supply, and the inequality in housing prices and rents (Prof. Wrede).

Organizational details:

- The seminar is jointly organized by the chairs of Prof. Buettner, Prof. Rincke, and Prof. Wrede.
- Students should express their interest by filling in the respective form and submitting it to amanda.tuset.cueva@fau.de until July 28th, 2016. Please indicate your preferred topics. Preference will be given to the earliest submissions.
- Please note that the maximum number of participants is 10 students.
- For more details, see the Chairs' websites.